AIBs 2013 INSPIRING CREATIVITY

SPONSORS

“ A most fantastic evening. Winning was an honour beyond expectations ”

It is all about inspiring creativity. Our ninth annual search for the world's best factual content on TV and radio has attracted a wide range of remarkable entries to the 17 categories covering live journalism, short reports, live sport coverage, investigative documentary and more.

Each year we receive outstanding work from programme makers across the world. 2013 is no exception. We are delighted that many of the entries come from organisations that are new to the AIBs. From Kazakhstan to New Zealand, India to South Africa, the US to Brazil, leading broadcasters and independent producers have submitted their work for peer review by our independent, international jury. There is a tremendous variety of high-quality content in this year's AIBs - and guests at the gala dinner in London in November will see and hear extracts from all the finalists who make the short-list. The AIBs are a global showcase for the most inspiring, creative content in factual broadcasting and our guests say that they particularly enjoy the way we present the short-listed work. There is no other awards event that offers such depth, insight and context - so we are told, time and time again.

JUDGES

During September and October, our judges will view and listen to the material that has made it through to the short-list. This year too we are delighted to welcome a great number of senior professionals from diverse areas of the broadcasting industry to our international panel, thus ensuring that different cultures and different media markets are represented. We are immensely grateful to all our judges for giving freely of their time and expertise in evaluating the short-listed entries so that the final winner can emerge.

And because many of the jurors run channels, they are often encouraged to buy the programming they see for broadcast on their networks. This is another great reason to put your work forward in the annual AIBs.

AWARDS NIGHT

The names of the winners and finalists for the AIBs in 2013 will be kept firmly under wraps until Wednesday 6 November - the day of the AIBs Awards Gala and Dinner. For what has by now become one of the highlights in the international broadcasting calendar, guests from every continent will be joining us in the fabulous performance space of LSO St Luke's in central London. It is a magnificent venue that never ceases to impress and fascinate our guests.

As always, we will have a special guest "in conversation" during the evening, adding to the interest and excitement of the event. And of course we will announce all the winners of the coveted AIBs awards across all categories and present them to the deserving winners.

OUR SUPPORTERS

Running the AIBs is a considerable undertaking for us and we are delighted that this year RTG TV and RUPTLY have signed up as key sponsors for the 2013 festival.

The entire AIB membership and the awards team extend their particular thanks to RTG TV and RUPTLY for contributing to the success of this international competition.

JOIN US

You and your colleagues are invited to join us for the AIBs awards gala dinner in London on 6 November - you will find it inspirational and rewarding, with excellent networking opportunities and the chance to exchange ideas and knowledge with colleagues from all over the world. And you will also be able to meet some of the world's top programme makers.

It's a date not to be missed - see you in London! ■
